FAVOR OF CR. DITORS OF O. G. KIMBALL. The failure of B. G. Arnold & Co. has prostrated the coffee market, but no further failures have yet occurred. A statement of the affairs of the firm is in preparation, and a meeting of creditors will be held when this statement is completed. It is believed that the Diabilities will exceed $1,000,000. The deed of assignment was recorded yesterday under in any wav embarrassed, nor do they expect to be, which creditors were preferred whose claims It was stated that Bowie Dash & Co. had inexceed $215,000. less than 6 per cent. But a short time before the directors of the city bank instructed its officers to buy $10,000 of it when it could be bought at that rate. In seeking to fill the order of its country orrespondents the bank secured just $20,000 of the paper at the desired rate, but it divided it, and keeping one-half itself, sent 'he remaining $10,000 to the eastern bank. The paper has not matured, nd the officers of the city bank are contemplating a letter to their correspondent in apology for their rudeness and offer to hold the paper for the account of the eastern bank.

Kimbali & Co., of Boston. The death of Mr. Kim- 167,240. ball, who had no business partner, is likely to result in long delays in the settlement of his business and especially of the transactions on the joint accounts of B. G. Arnold & Co., and of Bowie Dash & Co. It is understood that in the course of his visit to this city last week Mr. Kimball sought to secure further assistance from some of his largest creditors. Arrangements were completed which, it was believed, would enable him to meet his own engagements and at the same time protect the interests of his creditors. His unexpected death, however, put a summary end to these expectations, and led to an application by those who had made large advances to him for an injunction restraining his associates in the coffee syndicate and others who held property on his account from disposing of the control of it. The immediate result of the granting of this application will be delay in selling the merchandise held on joint account of the three houses. It is probable that other legal delays will be put in the way of an early settlement of the transactions of Mr. Kimball's asso-

On the joint application of Kidder, Peabody & Co., of Boston, Russell Sturges, James Hodgson and Baring Brothers & Co., an injunction was granted by Judge Daniels, of the Supreme Court, yesterday against B. G. Arnold & Co., Bowie Dash & Co., the National Bank of New-York, and certain warehousemen, restraining them from selling the property in their possession delivered to them by O. G. Kimball & Co., or by their agents. The plaintiffs gave bonds in the sum of $10,000. The storekeepers against whom the injunction was granted are Elliote F. EFFECT OF THE SUSPENSION. The effect of these complications on the coffee market has been to throw it into a condition of complete stagnation. The demand is small, except at lower values, and prices of " fair " Rio coffee declined yesterday to 12 and 124 cents. By the re-cent failures in the trade a large amount of coffee

COMMENTS ON THE FAILURE. Several merchants called upon Bowie Dash & Co., yesterday, and offered pecuniary assistance to the firm, but all offers were declined as unnecessary, as the members of the firm claimed not to be dersed a large amount of O. AN OLD MAN'S CRIMES.

JEALOUS OF HIS YOUNG WIFE, HE FATALLY AS-SULTS HER WITH AN AXE AND COMMITS SUICIDE.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.] Kingston, N. Y., Dec. 8 .- The little hamlet of New Salem, in the town of Esepus, about three miles from this city, was the scene of a horrible tragedy this morning. John Van Tassel, a man seventy years of age, fatally assaulted his young wife with his flats and an axe, left her for dead and cut his own throat with a butcher knife.

Van Tassel was an old resident of the place, without pecial occupation or property, supporting his family on the proceeds of ordinary farm labor. Twenty four years ago, being a widower, he married Elizabeth Freer, a handsome and intelligent girl of fourteen years. Mrs. Van Tassei developed into a fascinating and interesting woman and was a great favorite among her neighbors. Her husband was proud of her, and until the past year nothog seems to have occurred to mar their happiness. During that time four children were born to them About a year ago he began to show signs of jealousy. Last September he was seriously prestrated with malarial fever, and his physicians said his ultimate recovery was mainly due to the tender care of his young wife. out after this illness he neted strangely and insisted that his wife was false to him. On Thanksgiving Day Van Tassel told a neighbor that "Lezzie" and he must die, and he would accomplish the job. He made like threats upon the life of a young man Excepting the debt to Mrs. Perry, of Brooklyn, which is a balance due her on deposits with the firm, these habilities are for advances on imported merchandise. In view of the fore-olog facts, and recognizing the im-portance of having the early, harmonious, and nettee co-operation of the entire city and country in order to make the Exhodition of 1833 an assured success, your commit-fee recommends the adoption of the following resort-

Resolved. That the Executive Committee hereby in-structing Committee on Sures to procure and report to true committee the exact boundaries of the Inwood site and the terms, which we understand to be free of cost, on which the property is offered for this purpose, and also to acquire all needed information as regards acces-sionity, matters of transportation, etc.

The report seemed to meet the approval of all the members, and was adopted without a dissenting voice and with very little discussion.

The Committee on Opening Books for Subscription, was instructed to consult at once with the leading interests of the city in regard to subscriptions and to take steps to ascertain to what extent manufacturers and other business men would cooperate in securing the success of the Exhibition.

J. J. Petter, of the firm of Potter Brothers, of this city, who has been chiefly instrumental in securing Inwood as a site, stated to a TRIBUNE reporter that Inwood as a site, stated to a Turbuse reporter that the grounds can be reached from the Grand Central Depot in sixteen minutes. All the radroads which terminate in or near Jersey City can run their own boats to the grounds. Some of the Hudson River steamboats own land near by, and have only to drive piles down to make landing-places. There is forty feet of water at the landing. The tract selected has a mile frontage on Broadway, or the King's Bridge Road, and a mile frontage on the Harlem River. In the 250 acres which it contains there are 4,250 lots. The land is held by about fifty owners, but their consent was readily obtained, as was also the use of a tract of land connecting the site with the river landing.
